REAL ESTATE

Is the best of investments. No city in the world has so bright a future as Honolulu, and if a person uses judgement in buying he should be able to provide well for the future if he invests his savings in beautiful Kaimuki.

With the coming of Uncle Sam to Pearl Harbor, the opening of the Panama Canal and the general development that is bound to follow a careful realty investment is bound to be worth many a sacrifice.

AUCTION SALES OF LEASEHOLDS

The lease of a piece of land at Pololu, North Kohala, Hawaii, containing 13.30 acres of rice land and 3.78 acres of Kula land, was offered today by public auction at the front entrance to the Capitol building. The upset rental was $250 a year, and the term of lease five years from January 1 next. There was only one bid, namely that of Ernest and Arthur Akina of $251, which was the successful bid.

The lease of the fish pond of Poulaha, at Waialeale, Ewa, Oahu, containing an area of about 22.50 acres, was next offered, and some spirited bidding was indulged in by the fairly large crowd. Starting with $250, it jumped to $400 at one bid, then to $650, and advanced from $55 and $25 bids to $1,015 at which price it was knocked down to C. Lai Young.

THE OUTRIGGER THANKSGIVING

I. D. Canfield is the energetic member of the Outrigger Club responsible for the dance to be given in the big lanai at Waikiki Thanksgiving evening. Canfield invites all the members of the club and their friends to a feast of cake, ice cream and lemonade, to say nothing of the dance to Kaula's music. The tickets will be a dollar each and the proceeds will go towards completing the new Club-house and rethatching the grass roof of the lanai. It is expected that the usual Outrigger turnout will be present to enjoy the festive occasion and celebrate Thanksgiving.

SOCIETIES FOR MINDING ONE'S OWN BUSINESS.

This truth is becoming evident to a few, and those who are awakening to it are instituting a much-needed change of philanthropic base. They have been awakened to the necessity of a decentralizing movement in social effort. Instead of joining the cry of "back to the soil," they are pondering means to keep their neighbors on the soil by transplanting to it what the human plants need. They are plucking up courage to shut their hearts to the poignant cries for aid from the victims of the cities, and are devoting their energies to lessening the supply of the victims who so cruelly need that aid. The first step in this new social effort is to recognize that in the country some of the advantages of the city must be afforded. The next, that concerted effort can achieve more than is within the power of any individual, and that the banded efforts of the countryside rightly applied will secure for the dwellers there the most desirable opportunities of city life. These leagues have been called by various names, but perhaps the most proper title would be "Societies for Minding Our Own Business." One early member of a neighborhood league thus defined the appositeness of this subtitle: "What is our own business? Why, to see that our taxes are properly spent; that the elected officials do their duty; that our roads are kept in order; the public health guarded; the laws obeyed; the schools maintained at a high standard; the beauty of the countryside preserved and increased, and that every one of us has an opportunity for healthful pleasure."—Elizabeth Bissland, in the November number of The North American Review.

LUNG HEMORRHAGES

(I TOOK PE-RU-NA.)

MISS NINETTE PORTER.

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He kindly gave me free advice."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky, substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Bad Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes: "I cannot thank you enough for curing me."

"For two years I doctored my cough, which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.
